

Now I can

Dear Friends,

The 2022-23 year was another year to celebrate Springer's impact in our community!

Providing a diagnostic, individualized education for the 191 students in our Lower School and Middle School continued to alter the trajectory of their lives for the better. Students diagnosed with learning struggles such as dyslexia, ADHD and those who have difficulty with executive functioning received best-in-class academic programming and support services delivered by the most respected professionals in the region. An expanded series of extracurricular offerings rounded out Springer's program and helped to bring out the very best in our students.

Springer also broke new ground, both literally and figuratively:

- We began the construction of a modern, beautiful new addition to our school building which was made possible by countless Springer supporters;
- We undertook an exploratory study to understand the viability of opening a Springer high school which resulted in enrolling our first-ever 9th grade class;
- And we launched Springer's first-ever tutoring, therapy and diagnostic evaluation services to support the overwhelming number of students and families in our region who are in need.

Springer continues to stand on the shoulders of giants. Please accept our wholehearted appreciation of all of the support expressed by our donors and friends that made the 2022-23 year an amazing success. The years ahead are promising for Springer, and for that we owe you—and so many others—a great deal of thanks. Without you Springer would never be able to reach the number of students and families whom we do today.

With appreciation,

Brett Marcoux

THE SPRINGER EXPERIENCE

which is something
I dreamed of...

— 2023 GRADUATE ”

“Springer transforms lives” is a sentiment frequently shared by Springer School families. At the core of the transformation is the experience of learning to read.

Parents whose children are struggling due to an undiagnosed learning disability feel the effects and witness their child’s self-esteem erode daily.

The profound impact of finally learning to read proficiently makes a marked difference in a child’s life and potential. With your support, we are giving children the tools to read. Through their words and by their faces, our students show us how empowering it is to finally say, now I can.

With your support, we are giving children the tools to read.

Springer School Fosters Confidence & Potential

At Springer, children with learning disabilities encounter curriculum developed according to their specific ADHD and LD needs. Springer is proud to provide an experience that students look forward to each day—it's the place where

STUDENTS ENROLLED

Lower School and Middle School

Teachers, instructional assistants, occupational and language therapists, counselors and psychologists collaborate to create individualized plans for each child. Programs celebrate students' strengths and foster a growth mindset that nurtures them into self-directed learners capable of achieving their goals.

In addition to math, social studies, science, literature and reading, students experience STEAM and unified arts—music, physical education and visual arts. Structured literacy instruction using the Wilson Reading System® is growing reading proficiency. Access to a bountiful selection of books in the Library/Media Center supports wide reading and dedicated reading time every day prompts our students to develop a true love of reading. Comprehension and fluency skills boost confidence and lay the foundation for success in all other areas.

Beyond the Classroom

Students who had never before participated in school activities gain the confidence to try new things through Springer's extracurricular programs, including a peer-elected Student Council in Middle School. Additionally, four school-wide social activities brought Springer families together and revealed the dedication of an enthusiastic volunteer force.

Faculty Dedication

Springer faculty appreciate that they can make a real difference in their students' lives. Partnership among colleagues and professional development that invests in our educators is also an investment in our students. Class sizes smaller than fifteen allow teachers the space for true connections that can last a lifetime.

Alumni Involvement

School alumni continue to engage with Springer through annual events, participation in A Springer Celebration and consistent, strong financial support from alumni and their families. A community of alumni remains connected to Springer and continues to inspire our faculty.

High School Exploration

A history of successfully educating lower and middle school students ignited a drive to serve more. Using principles from our existing schools, and with support from our visionary board, an innovative ninth grade program was developed. For the first time in school history, ninth graders began enrolling in January 2023.

Therapy & Tutoring

In May 2023 Springer's intervention specialists and expert teachers began offering academic tutoring, study skills instruction and occupational and speech therapies to students across the region.

Adventures in Summer Learning

Our summer programs are a great way for children to learn, socialize and grow during the summer months. Beyond preparing them for the school year ahead, students also receive small group and certified reading instruction.

Diagnostic Evaluations

Diagnostic evaluations are available on Springer's campus for the first time in our 52-year history, providing families with crucial answers sooner.

Helping more students say,

Now
I can

As the region's leading resource for children who learn differently, we support educators in our community through education and training.

Springer's expertise in teaching students with dyslexia is a critical resource for our local region and beyond. Because states have started to mandate more effective reading instruction, Springer is increasing offerings to schools across the country. This includes teaching educators the IDA-accredited Wilson Reading System.

"WITH THE RIGHT HELP, ALL OF US CAN LEARN HOW TO READ."

—Dr. Tim Odegard, Distinguished Speaker 2023

Across 2022–2023, Springer saw seven teachers earn the designation of Wilson® Credentialed Dyslexia Practitioner, with the goal of certification for all classroom faculty.

Because of Springer, I learned strategies to help with reading. Some things I learned in Wilson are how to decode words and pronounce them.”

Reading Specialist Cari Kelly has over 20 years' teaching experience. In the Spring of 2023, she became a Certified Wilson® Credentialed Dyslexia Trainer and is working to expand teaching capabilities for educators across the region based on the science of reading.
